An interested person who wishes to challenge the Order must make an application to the High Court within the period of 6 weeks beginning with the date on which the Order is made.

The grounds on which an application may be made are:-

- (a) that the Council did not have power to make the Order, or to include particular prohibitions or requirements imposed by the Order;
- (b) that a requirement in the process of the making of an Order set out in Chapter 2 of the Act was not complied with.

The High Court can uphold, quash or vary the Order and may decide to suspend the operation of the Order pending the final determination. Additionally, as with all decisions, the making of the Order can be challenged by judicial review by any other person on public law grounds within three months of the decision or action subject to challenge.
